That the US did nothing about what the Soviets did to a US citizen, Alexander M. Dolgun (WxPost 1/3/73 from Sylzhenitsyn,"The Gulag Archipelago") makes one wonder about whether or not Dolgun was compromised by connection with an intelligence operation. It seems unlikely that any government would be silent when it knew one of its citizens had disappeared (if it knew nothing else), lest of all the US government in that hot time in the Cold War. HW 1/5/74